

CONVICT MAKES DARING ESCAPE

IN CITIES TO GOVERN DANCES

Attorney General Johnson's Office Rules on Request of Local Women

STATE FUND EXHAUSTED

License Department Has $4,700 of Unpaid Bills, Official Reports

City authorities have power to pass ordinances regulating public dance halls, according to an opinion of the office of Attorney General Sveinbjorn Johnson.

The opinion was rendered in a communication in reply to a request of the organized women of Bismarck through the Community Council. The women had asked the city commission to regulate dance halls and was referred to the state licensing department.

There is no state enforcement department at present because the funds of the division of the attorney general's office were exhausted when Attorney General Johnson took office.

A report by the state auditor is to the effect that the funds of the department are overdrawn $246 and there are unpaid bills in the amount of $4,709.91. Since most of the collections have been made for the current fiscal year it is improbable that the attorney general will be able to engage a force for this department.

Opinion in Full

The opinion, written by Assistant Attorney General George Shaffer, follows:

"Under date of December 8th you requested an opinion from this office on the following questions:

"1. Have cities power to regulate public dance halls by license or inspection?

"2. If not, is such power invested in the state and which department has jurisdiction?

"3. If under control of state officials, are public dance halls inspected and supervised regularly and reports made to responsible officials?

"Replying thereto, we beg to advise you that cities have not the power to regulate dance halls by license or inspection but such power rests exclusively in the state government, under the jurisdiction of the state licensing department of the attorney general's office.

"Answering your third question we have to advise that the files and records of this department do not indicate that public dance halls have been heretofore regularly inspected and reports made to this office.

"In this connection, we regret to advise you that the state licensing department is almost entirely disorganized due to the exhaustion of funds and that it undoubtedly takes considerable time to reorganize the department on a basis that will insure adequate and proper enforcement of the laws relating to the licensing and inspection of public dance halls and similar institutions. According to the state treasurer's report for the month of November, 1921, the funds of this department were overdrawn $246, while there are unpaid bills in the state auditor's office in the amount of $4,709.91. Current receipts of this department are altogether too small to permit of the liquidation of these bills for some time.

"It is our opinion, however, that although cities do not have power to regulate public dance halls by license and inspection, nevertheless the cities do have full power and authority to regulate the manner of conduct of such institutions by ordinance prescribing conditions of regulating and providing a penalty for the violation thereof, and that cities have power by ordinance to regulate and control public dance halls and like amusements in any manner not inconsistent with the licensing and inspection powers of the state licensing department. In other words, we hold that the law creating the state licensing department does not repeal the expressed and implied powers of cities to regulate such institutions, so long as such regulation and control does not take the form of licensing or inspection for the purpose of licensing."

Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith Conduct of Pact Approval

Dublin, Dec. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—As the Irish Bireann met today for the continuation of its secret session it was declared by supporters of Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith that they and the other signers of the Irish peace agreement now felt certain of an ultimate majority in favor of the treaty.

They declared no prominent person in any part of Ireland had yet protested against their action in signing an agreement with the British cabinet. President DeValera's objections were stated to be certain details of the treaty which he thinks would have been improved if it had been resubmitted to him and the Irish cabinet before it was signed.

RECEIVERS OF SEVERAL BANKS
REFUSE TO QUIT

Decline to Accede to Request of Banking Boards to Quit Jobs

Many of the receivers appointed under the Nonpartisan administration have refused to resign upon request of the state banking board to permit it to put into effect without delay its plan of consolidating receiverships and effecting economies in the administration of the affairs of closed banks.

About half of the receivers have responded to the request to submit their resignations. Among those who have refused to resign are some who are the "most incompetent and the most expensive of all the receivers appointed during the past summer and fall," according to a member of the banking board.

In some cases these receivers have gone to the courts after their resignation was requested and asked the court to confirm the appointment and in some cases the courts have done so, it is said. The State Banking Board probably will begin court action to oust receivers who are declared to be incompetent.

The expense of receivers in conducting affairs of some banks has been appalling, according to one of the banking board.

Washington, Dec. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Alternate proposals relating to the 5-5-3 ratio as worked out apparently over night by naval experts were presented today to Secretary Hughes, Mr. Balfour and Baron Koto, which indicated, according to the delegation spokesman, that no formal agreement had been reached by the big three.

The proposals submitted as a means of balancing the naval ratio to compensate for the retention of the Mitsu by Japan would permit Great Britain to build two super-Hood's, scrapping four old dreadnaughts and one battle cruiser of the type of the Tiger and Repulse or to build two battle-ships of the Royal Sovereign class, scrapping four dreadnaughts but no battle cruisers.

Court Attaches Speculate On Part Anonymous Letters Will Play

Los Angeles, Dec. 15.—Speculation as to what part writers of anonymous letters might try to play in the trial of Arthur C. Burch, indicted for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, broker, was rife among court attaches this morning following instructions on the subject which Judge Sidney Reeve gave the jurors in the case yesterday.

The judge stated he himself had received letters of this character and thought it possible others might have. He asked the latter to turn over to him any such communications which might reach them so the proper authorities could be notified and efforts be made to trace the senders.

Judge Reeve declined to divulge the contents of the letters which he had received except to say "they were not threatening."

More witnesses were to be summoned by the prosecution at today's session.

HEATON PLEADS

HIS CASE OPENS

Former Teller of Scandinavian-American Bank Resists Charges

TOOK $78,000 IS CHARGE

State to Rely Largely on Alleged Confession Made By Him

Fargo, Dec. 15.—Trial of Frank C. Heaton, former teller of the defunct Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo on a charge of embezzlement, began in Cass county district court today. Selection of a jury which was expected to occupy most of the day was started this morning.

Heaton is charged with misappropriating approximately $78,000 of the bank's funds in approximately two years.

Since his arrest Heaton has insisted he would be able to clear himself of the charge and explain any statements admitting the peculations which he is said to have signed. The state, it is stated, is depending on these statements to convict him. Heaton pleaded not guilty.

Statement of Charles Heaton, former assistant cashier of the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo, was arrested March 15 of this year after shortages of approximately $78,000 were alleged to have been discovered in his accounts. Since that time he has been at liberty on bail of $20,000 pending trial of his case which was set for today in Cass county district court.

Heaton's alleged peculations, investigation showed, had extended over two years and included shortages of $49,903.33 in the savings accounts and $29,545.50 in the cash balance which he handled, according to an audit of the books.

A statement compiled by N. J. Brevig and O. C. Bjorne, assistant cashiers of the Scandinavian-American bank, now defunct, showed these shortages and was signed by Heaton, according to L. C. Reep, receiver for the closed bank.

Heaton, according to O. E. Loftus, state bank examiner at the time Heaton was arrested, confessed to him and absolved from blame everyone else connected with the institution. He said, according to Loftus, that he had not speculated with the money, but had "just spent it."

After his arrest Heaton denied that he had embezzled money from the bank and declared that he "would make it hot for somebody."

First Knowledge of Loss

According to Mr. Reep, first knowledge that there was a shortage in the bank's funds was brought to light through an audit by Examiners McAnaney and Dickinson, which disclosed a shortage of only a few thousand dollars. Further investigation, however, according to the receiver, brought to light additional discrepancies and a false entry in the books. As the investigation progressed the shortage grew worse, according to Reep.

Heaton was permitted to resign his position with the bank Jan. 16 on promise to make good in the account and this he had done in part, Reep said. Later it was decided to lay the matter before the attorney general's office and Heaton's arrest followed.

The men were discovered in a cave late yesterday. Capt. Holbrook sent Fred Noble, a friend of the fugitive trio, into the cave last night to ask the men to come out. They sent him word that when they came out it would be "feet first."

Bloodhounds Put on Trail of Charles Bryer and Track Him to Bismarck

3rd ESCAPE IN TWO YEARS

Bryer Was One of Four Men To Escape From Prison Over Year and Half Ago

Charles Bryer, 24 years old, is at large from the state penitentiary today, after making a daring and clever escape over the prison buildings. Bloodhounds traced him to the Soo depot in Bismarck, and word was sent broadcast today for authorities to watch for him.

His second escape here. He got out of the prison a year ago last March when four prisoners tunneled out under the dining room walls. He was captured several months ago in Kansas and was brought back to serve the rest of his term of five years for assault with intent to commit robbery.

Bryer's escape from the prison apparently was the result of careful planning. He was working in the boiler house. As he was returning from work about 6 o'clock last night, after dark, he jumped upon a storm shed just before reaching the cell house, sealed a water pipe to the roof of the cell house and slid down another water pipe at the corner of the office and main building. He dropped a pair of scissors on the outside of the prison.

Hounds on Trail

The escape was made at a time when guards were making their rounds. Bryer was coming alone from his work. He acted very quickly. His absence was discovered not long after and the bloodhounds were put on his trail.

Bryer's escape came at the conclusion of the pardon board session, a time when many prisoners, if denied clemency, seek to escape. He had not, however, applied for clemency at this session.

He was known as a good worker and was not a hard man to handle.

Daring Escape

Bryer, while a good prisoner, is declared by prison officials to be a hardened criminal. His escape last night could not have been made by any other than an athlete, they declare.

This makes the third escape for him in less than two years. After he escaped from here a year ago last March he was sentenced to one to 15 years in the Iowa penitentiary for burglary. Last Christmas day he escaped from the Iowa prison with Charles Welling, who recently killed a Kenmare policeman and was captured at Minot, and is being returned to the Iowa penitentiary to complete a life sentence for murder. Welling was brought to the penitentiary here for a short time recently for safekeeping.

Prison Record

The prison record on Bryer follows: "Charles Bryer, alias James Cullen, alias James Cline, alias 'Dutch,' 'Received at the North Dakota State Penitentiary Nov. 25, 1919, to serve a term of five (5) years for the crime of 'Assault with intent to commit robbery in the first degree.'"

"On March 11, 1920, Charles Bryer escaped from the N. D. Prison with four other prisoners, Arthur Buck, Ray Burke and John Stupard, by tunneling thru the inmates dining room and over the wall. John Stupard was apprehended a week later."

"On May 3, 1921, Charles Bryer was returned to the N. D. Prison from Fredonia, Kan., where he was apprehended. Charles Bryer had escaped from the Iowa State Prison on December 25, 1920, with three other prisoners. He was serving a term of twenty (20) years in Iowa."

"On December 14, 1921, Charles Bryer escaped from the N. D. Prison by scaling over the cellhouse, and descending down a water pipe between the main cellhouse and the office building."

BIG NEED FOR DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

"Effective In Service To Producers, Manufacturers, and Distributor," Says Hoover

MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

Washington, Dec. 14.—Secretary Hoover, in his first annual report tells President Harding that the establishment of a real Department of Commerce "effective in service to producers, manufacturers and distributors able to give economic interpretation of importance to the American public generally, and to stimulate American trade and merchant marine," requires "a thorough reorganization and entire regrouping of the federal functions bearing on these problems."

He adds, however, that inasmuch as these matters are now actively before Congress and the administration it is not necessary on this occasion to enter into discussion of them.

"As I assumed office on March 4, 1921," the commerce secretary writes the president, "this report covers but four months of the administration of the department under my direction. The new administration during this four months devoted itself to two primary questions:

"First, Reorganization of the departmental expenditures.

"Second, Reorganization of those bureaus concerned with industry and trade, that they may become of more effective service to the community.

"The results of reorganization enabled a revision of the estimates of expenditures for the fiscal year 1921-22 so that while the total appropriations available for the department for this period are $24,222,192, yet it now seems probable that the expenses during this fiscal year will approximate $20,200,000, showing a total saving of about $4,000,000, or 16.5 per cent. at the available appropriations.

"The results of reorganization of the bureau concerning industry and trade are in part indicated by the increase in volume of demand upon the department for helpful action or information. These demands have now reached a rate of over 500,000 per annum.

"The further practical results to American commerce and industry will be more evident later in the year and cannot upon them can best be deferred until results have been further realized.

Secretary Hoover calls attention that while the total foreign trade of the nation decreased by $1,176,626,000 during the past fiscal year, there was a slight increase in the visible balance of trade in favor of the United States as a result of the year's operation.

Exports for the year totalled $8,382,636,919 against $7,959,429,180 the year before while imports were $3,651,449,139 against $3,552,114. The balance of trade for the year was $2,731,186,600 compared with $2,711,807,512 the year before.

Part of the shrinkage in the value of foreign trade is due, the report says, "to lower prices rather than to diminished quantities and part to the general unsettled conditions in the countries to whom the United States sells."

"It is, therefore, increasingly important," it is added, "that the services of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce be developed and intensified to meet the increased demands of American manufacturers who are planning to hold and extend their markets abroad."

INCOME TAX OF STATE IS DUE SOON, WARNING

Blanks Prepared For Taxpayers to Make Report to Tax Commissioner

The state tax commission's office is preparing to send out income tax blanks for the year 1921. Lyman A. Baker, secretary, said today. His statement follows:

"The tax department has received the 1921 income tax blanks from the state printer and is busily engaged in preparing to send blanks out to each taxpayer who paid a tax in the year 1921. Failure to receive blanks, however, will not relieve taxpayers of the duty of filing a report in case their net income for the year 1921 exceeded their legal exemptions.

"Blanks will be sent to every bank in the state and to each county treasurer for distribution to the public.

"The corporation income and capital stock report has been consolidated into a single report which will relieve taxpayers of the duty of reporting a large amount of duplicate information required under the income and capital stock tax laws.

"The check made by the state tax department at Washington, D. C., comparing federal and state reports for the years 1919 and 1920 showed the necessity of more detailed information for operations. The state report for the year 1921 has been made as similar as possible to the federal

"Under the state income tax law all reports for the calendar year 1921 are delinquent March 1, 1922. The state tax department, however, is granting a general extension to date of March 15 for filing reports to correspond with the date federal reports are delinquent. Blanks will be mailed out on January 3, 1922.

EXPERIENCED PLAYERS FOR BELFIELD H. S.

Belfield, N. D., Dec. 14.—Most of the men who are expected to make the Belfield high school basketball team this year have had at least two years' training in the game here. The freshmen who may have a chance of making the team are Harwood Doring and Jack Ruth. Kenneth Olson and Willard Brunson are upper classmen who are making a first bid for places. Walter F. Curran of Columbia College is the coach.

Hebron and Dickinson have been played and the other games arranged are:

Jan. 14—Belfield at Glen Ullin.
Jan. 20—Taylor at Belfield.
Jan. 26—Hebron at Belfield.

February games will include meetings with Glen Ullin. Taylor and Dickinson and four other games probably will be booked.

U. S. OFFICERS PROVIDED FOR BY COBLENZITES

82 Apartments Have Been Built By Germans For Officers of American Forces

THE CITY IS CROWDED

Coblentz, Dec. 14.—(By Associated Press.)—Apartment houses built by the municipality of Coblentz aided by the German government, were opened recently for accommodation exclusively of officers of the American forces in Germany and their families. The purpose of the houses is to relieve the crowded condition of the city which has been a problem ever since the allied troops reached the Rhine.

There are 82 apartments of five rooms each and all modern conveniences in the new buildings now being taken over by the American families. Work on these apartments was started about two years ago to alleviate, as the Germans put it, "an unbearable situation," as "no roof is large enough to cover two families."

Additional quarters for non-commissioned officers and their families are also under construction. Allied army officers say that the population of Coblentz perhaps has been harder pressed by the army requisition of quarters than any other occupied city. All available space for offices and billets has been under requisition for nearly three years, but German officials hope the new apartment houses will considerably improve the present crowded condition of the city.

"In Coblentz there are about 3,000 rooms under requisition by the American army. The general policy of billeting being similar in all the zones as occupied by the French, British and Belgians. In the majority of cases, allied families have been quartered in the same houses or apartments with German families, the allied families occupying a separate part of the house so far as practicable and using the kitchen and bath in common with the German occupant.

As a consequence, disputes have arisen and the town major or billeting officer is often called upon to settle them. These disagreements almost invariably have their origin due to joint use of the kitchen. Because of this difficulty, the policy has universally been adopted of installing, wherever possible, a separate kitchen for the Allied family.

Generally, when a house or apartment has been taken over, the Germans have been permitted to take their furniture and personal belongings with them. In the America area it is stated, however, that only in exceptional cases have Germans been required to vacate their homes or apartments entirely. One eight room school building in Coblentz was requisitioned exclusively for children of American officers.

NATIONAL GUARD BEING REBUILT

Washington, Dec. 14.—Rapid progress in the rebuilding of the nation's second line of defense—the National Guard—was made during the last fiscal year, says the annual report today of the chief of the Militia Bureau, under signature of Brigadier General Jesse M. Carter, retired. On last June 30, the report says, the guard numbered 113,630 with 331 organizations allotted, but not yet organized.

On the basis of expansion during last year, General Carter estimated that before the end of the current fiscal year the guard would number 160,000 men, or some 10,000 more than in the regular army. Pointing out that available funds for this year provide for only 122,000 men, the report

DOES THIS FROCK SUIT YOU?

BY MARIAN HALE

New York, Dec. 15.—Have you light hair, which curls frivolously, follows no particular line, and looks best that way?

Have you small features—piquant, and something of a tang in your whole personality?

Then such a frock as this Claire model, naive collar, puffed sleeves, touched with bright Rumanian embroidery, is the one which will suit your particular type best.

For you there should be no long dignified lines, nothing classic.

The skirt sports an elaborate apron effect, five interesting tiers of finely plaited material fall softly over each other. Aprons, one notices, are exceedingly popular as a means of enlivening the short and quite plain skirts young girls are wearing.

At the waistline is a fascinating wash of gaily colored beads, wound into a heavy cord and finished at the ends with clever, brightly-hued ornaments.

To say we had a rush is putting it mildly, as our stock was exhausted before closing time, excepting a few machines we had to keep for display and demonstration purposes. Divorce—Frankness

By Winona Wilcox

In my files I discovered a folder of unique letters from women who have been divorced.

"How can lovers learn better than from those who have tried?" I asked myself, turning over several delicately penned pages.

This excerpt I think identifies the term of divorce:

"You and I do not understand love in the same way," my husband said when I discovered his share in an office flirtation. Thus writes MADAME X.

"To which I replied indignantly, 'Consequently you put what you like over me. You take my all and give me half! We understand love differently—thus you justify yourself! I call that smug hypocrisy! I don't want to understand love your way.'

"Needless to say, that kind of talk widened our differences. Finally I was granted a divorce.

"Since then I have had many a lonely hour in which to think. Now I see that my husband was right. Men and women do not understand love in the same way. They never are going to do so. This misunderstanding is the seed of divorce."

Doubtless it is. Man appears to be over-developed upon his esthetic side. He falls in love with beauty; right and reason have nothing whatever to do with his love. When beauty wanes, he falls out of love without an atom of conscience.

Woman, the once-beloved, does not, cannot understand, and man comprehends neither her grief nor her reproaches. This talk of understanding between two who have loved is the germ of divorce.

Having identified it, it would seem the part of common sense for two about to marry to discuss methods of becoming immune.

Silence between lovers about the great man-and-woman problems has been tried for generations and found wanting.

While it is impossible to make over the nature of man and woman.

Mix grated vegetables with sugar, add the grated rind and juice of lemon. Work suet creamy with hand and add to first mixture. Mix all sift flour, baking powder, spices and salt and add cleaned and seeded raisins and currants to dry mixture. Add this to first mixture and beat well. Make Vegetable Puddings

(By Sister Mary)

While it may seem a bit incongruous to put vegetables in a dessert they may be used that way to great advantage.

The pudding made with a vegetable contains great food value and should follow a light meal. These vegetable puddings are best suited to luncheon, where they should form the principal part of the meal.

Sweet potatoes, carrots, squash and pumpkin lend themselves admirably to desserts.

Carrot Pudding

1-2 cup grated raw carrot, 1-2 cup grated raw potato, 1-2 cup brown sugar, 1-2 cup chopped suet, 1-2 cup currants, 1-2 cup raisins, 1 lemon, 1-2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

It may be possible to prevent the shock when the great disillusionment comes.

When they marry, most men and women have the best of intentions toward each other.

Now if there were greater frankness between lovers, a mutual acknowledgment of race-weakness and sex-tyrannies, it must follow that the enlightened and the right-minded would work together to perfect what they have planned, and to avoid catching the plague of divorce.

One must believe this or abandon faith in the eternal good.

SQUASH

When you're fixing squash, instead of cutting it before cooking, simply wash it well and put it in the oven to bake. When it is soft you can cut it with an ordinary knife, remove the seeds and scrape out the vegetable. In this way it retains its natural sweetness.

SAGE GREEN

Sage green taffeta is a favorite medium for dance frocks this season. Perhaps because its delicate brilliancy takes so well to colorful feather fans and artificial flowers.

SEASONING

The mashed potatoes will have a new and pleasant taste if you add one teaspoon of onion juice and one-quarter teaspoon of grated nutmeg for every quart of mashed potatoes. They should be seasoned as usual and the onion juice and nutmeg added.

KNOW THAT ADVICE IS CHEAP
A back-seat driver is the pest who sits on the rear cushions of a motor car and tells the driver what to do. He issues a lot of instructions, gives a lot of advice, offers no end of criticism. And doesn't do a bit of work.

You find back-seat drivers in other places than autos. They are carping continually, in domestic, business and public life, telling how the thing should be done and what they'd do if they were running things.

These are the gents who foam about jury verdicts, then sprain their backs dodging jury service.

UP
Cost of living during October rose six one-hundredths of one per cent, reports National Industrial Conference Board. That is infinitely small—like thickness of a sheet of gold leaf.

Nevertheless, it is disconcerting. For cost of living should be dropping rapidly. Prices paid by consumers now average about 63 per cent higher than before the war—far out of line with what farmers are getting. Boom times will come when everything is on same level, balanced. Not before.

LURE
A lot of the news you used to read from Denison, Texas, was clicked over the wires by A. L. Lancaster, telegraph operator. He took a flier in oil. Bought a lease in the Mexia field for $930. Sold it for $15,000. He quit telegraphing.

Many stories like that come from the oil country. True ones, too. But before you invest, remember that nearly $8,000,000,000 worth of oil stock has been placed on the market since the Armistice—nearly $80 for every American, or $400 for the average family. In diving for pearls, watch out for the sharks.

MERRY
The "merry" has been taken out of "Merry Christmas" in Russia. Over there, little Ivan and Olga will be contented if Santa brings them a loaf of bread or a bowl of soup.

By Christmas, the American Relief Administration will be feeding 1,000,000 children in Russia. Generous Americans furnish the money.

To extend this relief to starving Russian grown-ups, remittances in units from $10 to $50 can be bought and sent to relatives or friends, by applying to the American Relief Administration's offices, 42 Broadway, New York City. Send them the money for the general cause, if you want to help and do not know any one in Russia.

No waste; Herbert Hoover has charge of this work.

DANCING
Dancing is exercise and a natural emotional outlet, says Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, health and social expert.

Like most evils, dancing is a virtue carried into vice by excess.

Sometimes, and periodically, dancing is a disease, an epidemic of social hysteria. Europe was swept by such an epidemic 340 years ago. Italian doctors thought it was a contagious malady, caused by the bite of the tarantula spider. To cure it, they invented for patients the fast tarantella dance, on the principle of one poison counteracting another.

The world now is emerging from a similar epidemic of dancing social-hysteria, outbreak of which was fore-runner of the World War. Ibanez knew what he was talking about.

SUCCESS TIP
George Cohan, back from Paris, says: "I saw Lucien Guity for the first time. He is the greatest actor I have ever seen. I strongly advise all American actors to study this man and learn the art of NOT acting."

Guity, master performer, is 61 years old. His art lies in always being natural, never "putting it on." An amateur tries so hard to act that he overdoes the thing, seems artificial.

Most of us can apply this principle, with profit! The business man, for instance. He could write an excellent ad. easily, if he wrote it naturally, just as he would present his sales arguments verbally to a customer. Instead, he usually "tries to write"—makes a job of it.

No task is difficult, except as dread makes it so. A task is easy or hard, depending on your mental attitude. All problems are simple. Approach them naturally, not imagining them difficult or mysterious, and you'll solve them quickly. Success is in being natural and doing things naturally.

SPEED
Fiction writers say "Fast as an antelope." That's low. A hunter near Edmonton, Canada, chased antelopes in his auto and overtook them easily.

The auto and airplanes are nothing but mechanical animals, superior to those of nature. They'll seem slow to future supermen.

RATS
Rats making tremendous headway, warns a fire prevention association. It says our rats are destroying $750,000,000 worth of property a year. That's $7 for every American, against $1.80 a few years ago.

Rats increase your cost of living. They carry disease, imperiling your health. They start many fires. The only good rat is a dead one. Kill every rat you see, no matter how long it takes. One rat is a potential parent of many. Old saying, "Breed like rats," tells the story in a nutshell.

MISSING
Have you a long-lost relative or missing friend whom you want to get in touch with? All postmasters have been authorized by Will Hays to help you search. A great organization is thus started going to round up the missing.

One tremendous convenience we lack, and need badly, is a directory of every one living in the United States. A big job. Yes, but only about 20 times as big as getting up the New York City directory. The Census Bureau could compile the national directory, for sale to public libraries.

MONKEY
The strangest thing seen by Carveth Wells, during a six-years' exploring trip in Malay jungles, was this:
Gangs of monkeys, fishing together! They worked in pairs, one monkey overturning stones in a stream, so his partner could reach down and grab shrimp, small fish and crabs. Like American boys, hunting crawfish.

This teamwork among monkeys is the first step in organized society. The next step in these monkey's evolution toward the higher form of animal life, man, will be to begin killing each other with clubs.

JAZZ
Jazz life isn't hurting us, says Lemuel H. Murlin, president of Boston University. He makes the point that jazz life causes discussion merely because most of us are so good that naughtiness shocks us.

Jazz is hysterical reaction from the strain of war. Smelling salts are being applied and the patient is slowly "coming to."

A town isn't intemperate just because it has a few drunkards. Jazz life, like crime is the exception. That's why it gets so much publicity. The majority still have their heads and are normal.

POLITICIANESS
In Texas, which is larger than Germany, two women are looming as probable candidates for Democratic nomination for United States senator. The campaign is in full swing, though elections will not be held until next July.

The women are Mrs. Percy V. Pennybaker, former president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier, Austin clubwoman and civic worker.

Many of us now living will live to see as many women as men in the Senate. Look to the west for the first crop of lady senators. East is conservative. West is first to grab new, good ideas.

MOVIES
Movies about farm life—entertaining and also instructive—are being developed by the American Farm Bureau Federation.
"Spring Valley," five reels, was the first. It was produced by farmers and acted by farmers. A second picture, "The Homestead," is ready for distribution.

These films, like ones to follow, interweave romance and adventure with the basic economic problems of farm life.

Here is an acorn from which mighty oak will grow. The movie, developed as entertainment, may soon be one of the most practical educational devices in American life. And its greatest field should be the most important industry, farming.

SKILL
Working over a buzz-saw, at Hominy, N. C., Henley Grover Brimmon's left hand was almost completely severed at the wrist. Both bones were cut clear through. Veins, arteries, nerves and ligaments were parted as if struck by a butcher's cleaver.

Dr. G. D. Gardner wired the bones together, bound the tendons, spliced the nerves, joined the arteries with tiny silk stitches.

Feeling has returned to Brimmon's injured hand. He can bend it at the wrist, move the fingers and use it considerably in his work.

WANT A BATTLESHIP? BID AND BUY ONE CHEAP!

BY HARRY HUNT
Washington, Dec. 15.—(Circ) Sam is offering for sale to be broken up for junk 13 navy vessels, totaling 85,189 tons.
A second lot of about 17 probably will be announced for sale before December 20.
The first lot includes three battleships, three cruisers, four monitors, one destroyer and two small auxiliary vessels.
These include the battleship Maine, successor to the ill-fated Maine which was blown up in Havana Harbor, and the cruiser Brooklyn, flagship of Rear Admiral William S. Schley in the battle of Santiago.
The Maine and her sister ship, the Missouri, both built following the Spanish war, were considered marvels of naval design. They each displaced 13,500 tons and carried four 12-inch guns.
So rapid has been naval development that these ships would be virtually impotent in any major naval engagement.
So, stripped of guns, they are offered at public sale to be broken up, their parts to be made available for peaceful industries.
In advertising the vessels for sale the navy department suggests they "should be considered from the standpoint of a nucleus to get into the ship-breaking-up field for some far-sighted concern."
These vessels constitute about 10 per cent of the total tonnage the United States would scrap under the Hughes proposal to Great Britain and Japan.
The total cost of the 13 vessels now up for sale, $28,000,000, is little more than half the cost of one modern, electrically driven superdreadnaught.
Exclusive of armament the Maine cost $2,885,000.

BATTLESHIPS THAT WILL BE JUNKED. ABOVE, THE MAINE; BELOW, THE WISCONSIN.

Ship	Tons	Built	Cost
Battleship Maine	13,500	1901	$2,885,000
Battleship Missouri	13,500	1901	2,885,000
Battleship Wisconsin	13,500	1898	2,675,000
Cruiser Brooklyn	10,000	1895	2,986,000
Cruiser Columbia	7,387	1892	2,725,000
Cruiser Memphis	15,712	1903	4,035,000
Monitor Ozark	3,358	1900	960,000
Monitor Tonopah	3,358	1900	962,000
Monitor Miantonomoh, monitor Puritan, destroyer Smith, and the Albert Brown and Oriole, small auxiliary vessels.

The second list will include the famous cruiser Olympia which cost $1,796,000.

FORGET-ME-NOT DAY TO REPAIR WRONGS
BY ROBERT S. MARK
Commander, The Disabled American Veterans of the World War
The other day I received from a disabled veteran a letter. He told me of his distress. The government had been giving him vocational training to enable him to be a lawyer. It had sent him to a law school for a year and then suddenly, declaring him rehabilitated, stopped his education and cut off his allowance where-with he was supporting a wife and child.
In the state where this young man lives, one may be admitted to the practice of law on application to a county court after only a year's reading of law. Therefore, the government considered him "rehabilitated."
He writes to me "Today I was told I could practice law. But, honestly, I cannot practice law. I haven't enough education. But they say I'm a lawyer and to go out and practice."
In this way the government has been cutting off hundreds of men from vocational training before they have completed their training.

Instead of considering every case individually, it has made general arbitrary rules. So that after a man has been in training a certain length of time, the government says to him: "You are rehabilitated," whether he is rehabilitated or not.
Vocational training that goes only half way is wasted. It is a waste of the time of the man, and a waste of the money of the government. And it is not just.
It is to fight for justice that my comrades are organized as The Disabled American Veterans of the World War. They don't want charity. They ask only for a chance to make good, but they want a real chance. They want to be put back on both feet, not on one foot. They have a right to be taught that the promises made to them ought to be kept.
It is to remind the country of these promises that Forget-Me-Not Day will be observed on Dec. 17. Through the sale of forget-me-nots, the Disabled American Veterans of the World War hope to be enabled to carry on the fight for the kind of justice that will put disabled men back on both feet.

Lazy Husbands Beware!
By NEA Service.
Hope, Ind., Dec. 15.—The lazy husband is giving this town a wide berth. Because the authorities have unearthed an ancient ordinance known as the "lazy husband act." It provides 60 days in jail at hard labor for husbands who don't contribute to the family chest.
And prosecution of the ancient statute is being pushed by a secret organization of women! Already some men have been sent to the rock pile.

Community Chest To Aid Vets
By NEA Service.
Cincinnati, Dec. 15.—The Community Chest of this city is expected to observe Forget-Me-Not Day December 17 by contributing a large sum to the fund for the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, for whose benefit Forget-Me-Not Day movement are being organized all over the country.

The Community Chest already has given more than $10,000 for the activities of the local chapter of the disabled veterans' organization.
Half the sum collected in any community is to be applied directly to the relief of local disabled men and administered through the local Red Cross. The other half is to be used for the disabled veterans of the nation through their organization.

POETS' CORNER
CHRISTMAS TIDE
(By Florence Borger)
There came upon the midnight air,
Sweet music sent from heaven:
"Rejoice, rejoice, ye sons of men,
A King to you is given."

The frightened shepherds closed their eyes,
And trembled there again,
To see that holy angel band,
And hear that wondrous strain.
"Peace be to ye," an angel said,
In voice so sweet and mild:
"Arise at once, and ye shall see
The Virgin and her child."

Down thru the ages comes this song,
More sweet than all beside;
With joy we carol it along,
Each Merry Christmastide.

LASSIE IS A WONDERFUL CANINE ACTRESS. In 'The Girl from Porcupine,' which comes to the Rialto Theater on Friday, will be seen one of the most remarkable animal actors ever appearing on the screen.

This dog, Lassie by name is said by Mr. Henderson, who directed the picture to be the most intelligent animal he has ever encountered in his years of picture making.

In the scenes of this picture which were written by the eminent author, James Oliver Curwood the action calls for a dog mourning over the death of her master and so intelligent it would seem she must be imbued with human intelligence. We have all seen the dog lying on the grave but to see a dog go out into the fields alone and gather in her mouth a bunch of wild flowers and carry them back and place them on the grave then kneeling with her feet on the head stone raising her head against the simple slab and with actual tears in her eyes is something that to the knowledge of the writer of this article has never before been seen in pictures.

SHE LOVED HIM FOR YEARS; "Letters To Lovers" Solves Another Heart Tangle NOW HE MAY WED ANOTHER!

BY WINONA WILCOX

The love force never can be completely changed into work say certain psychologists. A primitive instinct may be sublimated, that is purified or refined, as when love is transformed from the physical to the intellectual plane.

But engineers know that the total power of a machine never can be entirely converted into output and so the love force (cannot be used up when it is diverted outwardly or turned to social artistic or other channels.

Sometimes love is so crystallized that like the alchemist it cannot be dissolved by any alchemy save that of fire.

The story of a love which cannot possibly be sublimated provides one of the most absorbing letters printed in this series.

For years I have been in the business world with a man much older than myself. For me to know him is to love him. I am 30 and I know my own mind.

I cannot contemplate life without him. He is at one time the greatest joy and greatest pain I have ever known.

Withal I am sure that he does not love me. There is a friendship based on the business connection of years and that is all.

He is everything a woman could wish a man to be.

You will object that I am clothed with him with the attributes of my ideal? To an extent that may be so.

Probably I love him in spite of his faults.

I would lay down my life for my friend and a greater love hath no man than this. He is enshrined above parents sisters brothers and friends and year by year I love him not less but more.

Perhaps you will say that this is an imaginary love. But if love which has lived so long without encouragement is not true love how can I trust my heart again?

My youth has slipped away. I have a normal woman's need for home and children. Yet with my affection where it has been for years, could I before God marry another if the chance should come?

It is impossible for me to go elsewhere and forget. I surrender the opportunity of seeing him six days a week I lose my only joy. Even the hurt of it is a joy.

When the time comes as it may when he marries some one else then I believe that if hearts can break—mine will though none but me will know.

It would be absurd to suggest any kind of a change when love has been so crystallized by time and de-termination.

Who wrote a high resolve some thing like this? All my life I'll go the soldier's sadder for that dream's sake.

Certainly a lonely way to follow but for the woman who wrote the above the only way.

SUCKLING PIG FOR NEW YEAR'S DINNER! HOW TO COOK IT

Roast suckling pig is excellent for New Year's dinner. There is nothing more satisfactory for a big family party. The dinner need not exact a great outlay of money for home canned fruits and vegetables pickles and jellies are more in keeping with the roast pig than out of season delicacies.

The butcher should dress the pig carefully and deliver it the morning of the day before the dinner. Scrub the skin with a brush and wash thoroughly inside and out. Rub the inside with salt and fill with plain bread stuffing. Sew up the slit and truss.

Prop the mouth open with a potato during the roasting and replace with a bright red apple to send to the table. If your oven is too small send the pig to the nearest bake shop to be roasted. Heat a board very hot to bring the pig home on and the roast will be piping hot to serve.

The menu for a roast pig dinner could be like this:

Fruit Cup. Tomato Bisque. Toasted Bread Sticks. Roast Pig. Mashed Potatoes. Squash and Nut Croquettes. Pickled Peaches. Celery.

Cooking Potatoes

Sister Mary's Kitchen

Potato recipes will appeal to the new bride—these have been prepared especially for the amateur cook. She must remember that there are different kinds of common potatoes. Some are naturally mealy and light and others are of the soggy and waxy brand.

Some cook quickly without the "bone in the center" and others cook raggedly on the outside and refuse to become tender in the center. If you find the potatoes doing this add a cup of very cold water. This stops the boiling and drives the heat to the center of the potato.

Mashed Potatoes. Five medium sized potatoes 2 tablespoons butter 1 teaspoon salt pepper-milk.

Pare potatoes and let stand in cold water to completely cover for an hour. Put on to cook in cold water. Cover. When about half done add salt. Boil until tender and drain.

Shake the pan of potatoes over the fire to make perfectly dry. Do not put the cover back on the potatoes as this makes them soggy. Put through a ricer or mash carefully with a wire masher.

Be sure the potatoes are free from lumps if a ricer is not used. Make a little milk through a meshed potatoes and fill this with milk. Put over the fire add butter and beat with milk to make moist. Eating well with a potato masher or a spoon.

See on with more salt if necessary and pepper. Beat well and serve at once. The extra milk and milk will not be given for some potatoes, some are better than others. The Potatoes Roasted with Meat. When potatoes are roasted with meat each potato should be served with salt and pepper when put in the pan. Base with the draining in the roaster a 1 hour and 15 minutes for potatoes to cook.

Do not choose a big potatoes and have them uniform in size. If the roast is small and is to be done rare the potatoes should be put in as soon as the flour is browned.

CHINA DEMANDS THAT TREATIES BE ABROGATED.

Throws New Questions Before Far Eastern Conference in Jap Negotiations

JAPANESE ARE OBJECTING

With the Shantung problem at a deadlock, the Chinese delegates threw a new question in the conference, and the Japanese immediately objected to consideration of the subject and the far eastern committee abruptly adjourned. Before another meeting is held all of the national delegations will prepare to give an opinion on whether the Chinese proposals can properly be taken up under the conference agenda.

Meantime all the delegation spokesmen except the Chinese are declining to discuss the subject and mention of the abrogation proposal was omitted from the official communiqué of today's session.

In the view of the Chinese representatives, the subject actually is before the conference and must be discussed and disposed of one way or another.

Japan to Give Up Road.

Further complicating the negotiations, China also asked the powers to make a definite and specific declaration abolishing all the claims to "spheres of influence" which have been made under several treaties with China. What disposition would be made of that proposal also was problematical.

Meantime some of the collateral issues of the Shantung negotiations which were advanced by the principal problem involved in the Japanese withdrawal from the Tsing Tao Tsian railroad remained as much a stumbling block as ever. Japanese delegates offered, according to the understanding of the Chinese delegates, to relinquish the Japanese claim over the railway on the basis of financial compensation subject to approval of the Tokyo government.

Coupled with this, however, a Chinese delegate said, the Japanese insisted that Japan would have to retain a financial interest. This latter proposal the Chinese replied they were unable to accept.

Compensation Is Question.

In connection with China's request concerning the abrogation of the twenty-one demands treaties and the powers' claims of spheres of influence, conference circles thought little could be done. Japan, it was recalled, is reluctant to go into the validity of old treaties.

Discussion at the resumption of the Shantung conversations after the far eastern committee had adjourned, centered around the question of compensating Japan should she agree to turn the road back and a proposal by the Chinese that the road should be restored as quickly as possible, not later than within six months. The Japanese tentatively suggest nine months but no agreement was reached.

Japan's spokesmen tonight indicated that if the railway problem of Shantung was settled on any other basis than joint operation the delegation would have to refer such an agreement to Tokyo for approval.

Want No Loan.

One of the spokesmen when asked concerning the Chinese understanding that the Japanese delegates were ready to negotiate on the basis of selling the railway to China said: "It is not a question of selling the road. More than that is involved."

One or two points in the Chinese proposal were not reached but most of the points were cleared up.

The question of possibility of a Japanese loan to finance China in paying for the road came up in the session. Chinese delegates said, and the Chinese declared that the people of China had expressed readiness to raise the money in China. The delegates took the position, he said, that a loan could not be forced upon China by the Japanese if she were able to finance the purchase from Chinese sources.

MAJORS PLAN TO USE DRAFT

Resolutions to this effect were adopted by unanimous vote in both leagues and submitted to baseball's advisory council for consideration tomorrow, during the joint meeting of the majors. The resolution in the National was offered by Garry Herrmann of the Cincinnati club, as a substitute for the suggestion by Charles H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn club that the majors refuse to purchase players from any league not subscribing to the draft.

CLEVELAND'S MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM

Will Cost $6,303,000—To Be Paid For By Issuance Of City Bonds

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 15.—The new municipal auditorium, now being planned by the city, will be the most extensive building of its kind in the Western States. When the doors are thrown open to the public it will have a seating capacity of 14,000.

Two wings, as called for in the plan, are added, it means an expenditure of an additional $2,000,000. Financing of the structure is done by the issuance of city bonds, the original issue being for $2,500,000. This amount was expected to build the entire structure. Construction of the wings have been indefinitely postponed.

Operation of the auditorium which will have a seating capacity of 14,000 will cost more than $2,000 a day, it was estimated by city officials. Interest and sinking fund charges on the $6,303,000 bonds will bring the annual total expenses to approximately $500,000.

CONSOLIDATION, BRITISH BANKS' ONLY CHANCE

But For Consolidation, Banks Could Not Have Weathered The Slump

Manchester, Eng., Dec. 15.—(By Associated Press.)—New York is the principal free gold market, and all the world owes her money, but London still remains the world's financial center. This was the keynote of an address by O. R. Hobson, financial editor of the Manchester Guardian at a meeting of the Manchester and District Bankers Institute.

"Though America's loans to Europe run into thousands of millions sterling, America has not yet learned the art of foreign investment," Mr. Hobson said. "She is not able to adjust to lead to foreigners at rates competing with London rates. Again, despite the remarkable success of the Federal Reserve system, New York has never yet been able to establish a proper discount market, the smooth and economical working of which has done so much to popularize the bill on London all over the world."

"Although London has lost a certain amount of business to New York, though the general drift of the world's wealth from east to west must continue to give New York far greater prominence as a financial center than she had before the war, yet London's pre-war position has not been very seriously affected, nor need it be yet awhile," the speaker went on.

Referring to the tendency among banks to amalgamate, Mr. Hobson observed that the high banking authorities agreed that but for this consolidation movement, British banks would not have been able to weather the slump. The inherent soundness of the British banking system, he concluded, had stood the strain and no disaster had befallen it comparable to the collapse of the Mercantile Bank of the Americas. For the next few years, the course of British banking, he predicted, would be rather in the direction of consolidating the position already won than of entering new fields.

ORGANIZATIONS SAID LACKING JOINT ACTION

Adjustment of Differences Possible "If There Is a Will To Bring It About"

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 15.—The Kansas State Board of Agriculture has made a move to remove dissensions among, and merge the efforts of numerous organizations operating in Kansas with a common view towards co-operative marketing of farm products. It has called a conference of all "individuals, companies, and organizations interested in improving marketing methods" to meet with the state board, January 19, 1922.

The board recently had a hearing at which representatives of half a dozen co-operative organizations explained their respective marketing plans. As officially announced, the conclusion of the state board was: "It is the opinion of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture that the delay in putting into effect measures to correct defects in present methods of grain marketing is due largely to lack of joint action for common purposes on the part of the farmer organizations."

The board has publicly announced that it does not endorse or condemn any particular plan. It found them all greatly alike in essential detail, and declared that an adjustment of differences is certainly possible "if there is a will to bring it about."

"We submit that farmers desire results and are not in sympathy with factional dissensions that impede progress," declared the board's announcement, issued by its secretary, J. C. Modhler.
